SECTION 4.0: SPECIFICATIONS/SCOPE OF SERVICES

4.1 General: The City of Grand Junction, Colorado (City) is seeking proposals from qualified consultants to produce a Grand Valley Housing Needs Assessment and City of Grand Junction Housing Strategies Report as described in this proposal document. The project shall be conducted in two phases. Phase One shall consist of the Grand Valley Housing Needs Assessment focused primarily on data collection. Phase Two shall consist of the City of Grand Junction Housing Strategies Report and may be deferred or canceled pending review of Phase one deliverables.

4.2 Background: Community Context

The Grand Valley of Mesa County, Colorado is the largest population center between the Denver, Metropolitan Area (250 miles east) and the Salt Lake City Metropolitan Area (270 miles west). It serves as the economic and service center for communities in Western Colorado and Eastern Utah. The urbanized area of the Grand Valley is comprised of four major population centers: Clifton (unincorporated), Fruita, Grand Junction, and Palisade. A large majority of Mesa County’s approximately 152,000 residents live in one of these four communities, with approximately 65,000 residing in the 40-square-mile City of Grand Junction. Residents of each of these communities frequently live, work, and take leisure in one or more of the other communities.

The Grand Valley’s housing market experienced rapid change in the past decade, having recessed until 2013 and since rebounded to experience low housing vacancy rates and high price appreciation on par with the early 2000s and early 1980s expansion eras. The Grand Valley’s economy has significantly diversified in this time period, with growth in healthcare, educational services, construction, recreation, and other sectors, whereas employment has historically been focused in oil and gas and related industries. Through February 2020, the area experienced noticeable wage growth and its lowest unemployment rate in 30 years. Unemployment has risen dramatically in 2020 in relation to the COVID-19 pandemic, but Mesa County’s unemployment has not increased as significantly as the rest of the state on average. Appreciation of housing prices has increased over 70% from 2011 and has significantly outpaced wage growth. Further, demand for housing both in the rental and buyer markets appears to be significantly outpacing production/availability in the Grand Valley.
These trends are expected to continue in the foreseeable future, as is the need for safe, quality, attainable housing in the Grand Valley.

4.3 Project Overview:

Purpose: The purpose of the study is to assess current housing conditions and needs, make projections/predictions of future housing conditions and needs, and provide recommendations for policies, practices, and regulatory changes that can be implemented to address gaps between housing need and supply. Assessment and projections/predictions of conditions and needs fall primarily in the scope of Phase One: Grand Valley Housing Needs Assessment. Strategy and policy development will fall primarily in the scope of Phase Two: City of Grand Junction Housing Strategy pending analysis of Phase One findings.

Required Components: Information provided in Phase One: Grand Valley Housing Needs Assessment shall include a demographic and economic framework; housing inventory; analysis of housing market conditions for both rental and homeownership; housing for special needs populations, students, seniors, and the chronically homeless; housing stock in terms of location, type, and quality; gaps between identified housing need and housing supply; and other data as required per US Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) guidance for an Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing (AI) study and a 5-year Consolidated Plan. Each element should include information for the Grand Valley identified by community/municipality, and by census tract wherever possible. Phase Two: City of Grand Junction Housing Strategy shall consist primarily of policy and practice recommendations for near-term and long-term strategies for meeting housing needs. These recommendations shall be specific in nature and shall be focus on implementation by the City of Grand Junction and its housing partners/organizations.

Area of Study: The area of study for Phase One: Grand Valley Housing Needs Assessment shall include the urbanized area of Mesa County referred to as the Grand Valley including the communities of Clifton, Palisade, Grand Junction, Fruita, and unincorporated areas of Mesa County within the Grand Valley. Phase Two: City of Grand Junction Housing Strategy shall focus on the City of Grand Junction and its growth area.

Application of Findings: The desired outcome of the Housing Needs Assessment and Housing Strategies Report is to provide data and analysis that will be used:

- As a basis for development of the City’s Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Consolidated Plan, Annual Reports, and Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice;
- To inform planning analysis for various neighborhoods and subareas including Subarea Plans;
- By City staff and area organizations to inform various grant applications and Low Income Housing Tax Credit (LIHTC) proposals;
- Identify trends in the local housing market and gaps between need and supply;
- To provide specific recommendations for the City of Grand Junction for implementing strategies to address near-term and long-term housing needs.
• To provide specific recommendations for the City of Grand Junction’s housing partners/organization for implementing strategies to address near-term and long-term housing needs.

4.4 Specifications/Scope of Services
The awarded consulting firm will produce a Housing Needs Assessment for Colorado's Grand Valley and, if deemed warranted by the City of Grand Junction, a Housing Strategies report for the City of Grand Junction as described in this Request.

4.4.1 Minimum Specifications:

The final scope of services will be the result of negotiations between the City and the selected consultant as to how to best meet the City’s goals for the planning process. The Housing Needs Assessment and Housing Strategies Report should include, but are not limited to, analysis of the following as provided below. Should one or more of this data be considered by the Consultant as irrelevant or superfluous to assessing housing needs or developing related strategies, please indicate this in the response.
